

- To contain the spread of COVID-19, Nishishiba Group revises domestic business calendar to reduce interpersonal contacts across the Group -

16 Apr, 2020

In response to the Japanese government's strong request to people to observe stricter social distancing, Nishishiba Group's domestic bases, including Head Office, branch offices, branches and factory, will reduce the number of business days in April, mainly by advancing holidays that were scheduled to coincide with the Tokyo Olympics.

Although the government declared a state of emergency, the number of people infected with the coronavirus has continued to increase, most of all in the seven prefectures subject to the emergency declaration. In light of this, Nishishiba Group is acting to minimize interpersonal contacts throughout the group in Japan.

This change of business calendar applies only to domestic operations. In its overseas operations, Nishishiba Group will continue to follow the guidance and instructions provided by national and local governments.

Nishishiba Group's business domains cover social infrastructure and other areas that sustain society, and Nishishiba is committed to fulfilling its responsibilities as a supplier and a corporate citizen. As it continues to implement thorough measures to minimize risk of infection, Nishishiba will ensure delivery, maintenance, service support and operations that maintain essential social services, based on mutual consultation with customers and business partners.

This calendar revision is not expected to impact on FY2020 business results.

Nishishiba appreciates the understanding and cooperation of its customers and business partners in dealing with the current situation.
